Building Parks in Rocky Ripple

All Rocky Ripple Festival proceeds go the Parks Endowment Fund. This fund exists to provide for maintenance and capital improvements of the parks within the town of Rocky Ripple. There are currently four parks in Rocky Ripple: Hohlt Park, located in the center of town between Crown and Annette on 53rd Street; Peace Park, located at 52nd and Byram; Fountain Park, located at Patterson and 53rd; and Wapahani, located behind and next to the Town Hall at 930 West 54th.

The Rocky Ripple Festival

◆ An Afternoon of Fun and Enjoyment

- The 2008 Rocky Ripple Festival included over 1000 attendees.
  - ✦ 38 artists displayed and sold their handmade wares
  - ✦ Five bands played on the Rocky Ripple Festival stage throughout the day
    - The children's area offered supervised games and entertainments, a bounce tent and do-it-yourself art projects.
    - The Community Association and Veterans Association provided a variety of grilled offerings and fresh corn on the cob for extremely reasonable prices. And the brewer's art was represented by the Broad Ripple Brewing Company.
    - The Friends of the White River educated attendees on how they can assist as good river stewards.

Sponsorship - Helping the Bottom Line

All proceeds from the annual “Rocky Ripple Festival in the Park” go to the Community Parks Endowment Fund. The event is organized by the Rocky Ripple Community Association and staged entirely through volunteer efforts. Rocky Ripple receives no funding from city or state revenue for its parks. Therefore, money raised from the annual festival is currently the only means of paying for maintenance and enhancements to the parks in Rocky Ripple.

With the assistance of festival sponsors, the festival raises enough money to maintain and improve the Rocky Ripple parks. Recent projects have included remulching the Hohlt Park children's playground and repairing the playground equipment. Our sponsors made the difference.
